Married on the Rail.

OGALLALA, NEB., Sept. 2 .- An incident occurred here this evening which is worth recording, as it is without a precedent, at least in these parts-a marriage on a railroad train. I know of an instance where a wagon train, stopping near a ranch on the plains for dinner and an hour's rest, and the ranchman, a bachelor, expressing a desire for a life-companion, found in the "outfit" a female whose heart beat as his did, and also a clergyman to tie the knot, all of which was done in a little

The Cannibal Outbreak in Fiji.

The Fiji correspondent of the London A very few must suffice. One of the knife. towns, Bukutia, taken by Mr. Gordon, house," he cried, "is not accustomed to be burned." His words were heard by friends and foes alike, and scarcely had the echo died away when a great shout arose from the Christians surrounding the rock, "Wait till to-morrow." The unexpected response seems to have struck terror alike into priest and people, for during the night the town was evacuated, and the "Devil" temple, "unaccustomed to be burned," was duly committed to the flames. One of the customs is that before proceedboast of his prowess. One of the police-soldiers in thus parading before the Governor at Nasova, said quietly as his boast, "This is but an old musket, but I bear it." The chiefs harangue their followers before an assault, and as a Fijian is naturally eloquent, these harrangues are uncommonly pithy, delivered with great vigor of elecution; they walk along the front of the lines, beseeching, taunting, imploring, breaking out into great leaps and bounds, expressive of the activity they themselves intend to display, and thus inciting the followers to imitate their leaders. This ished a more seemly ceremony is observed. The Christian teacher comes forward, and all the soldiers kneeling down with their faces to the earth, he pours forth a prayer for success in

The teachers are not slow to shoulder the musket themselves, and some of them had to be reminded after the fight that it was their special duty to show care for the wounded, and to prevent any thing like cruelty to the vanquished. Mr. Gordon showed them an example which at first they could scarcely comprehend, and one which certainly had never been shown them before. A poor baby was shot on its mother's it down as dead, but it was found alive, and the utmost care was taken of it; and when at length it did die it was buried wrapped in Mr. Gordon's mat. The cannibals did not observe similar humane practices. They captured a teacher belonging to Mr. Gordon's short-sighted, and had walked into the enemy before he was aware. He was clubbed, carried off and eaten. His bones, with the marks of the fire on them, were found when the town was captured three days afterward. And the men who assisted in the capture were themselves cannibals only a few years ago, but are now as completely Christian parents and hemmed around with all the traditions of a Christian country. Curiously enough it has been found that the hills upon which Bukutia and Matanivatu were situated are of marble, so that a new source of wealth has been probably disclosed by the sad necessities of war.

The Moral Character of the Oyster.

Asto his fortune, a punster has already said of him that his case is most uncommonly hard; that it is his, peaceful as he is, to perish in many a foreign broil; and it may be added that he is often in hot water, and perpetually in a stew of one kind or another.

In temper he is even mild to placidity, although he is sometimes slightly ruffled, on his edges at least. He is quiet always, and usually very well behaving; and yet he participates in nearly every scene of debauch and revelry.

Cottage or Surprise Pudding .- 1 cup not quite full of sugar, 2 cups of flour, eggs, 2 full teaspoons of baking-powder, a little salt and fresh lemon. Break the eggs in an earthen dish without beating; pour over these the sugar; sift in the flour and baking-powder; first stir and then beat all well for 10 minutes. Bake in well buttered oval tins in pretty quick oven (it ought to bake in 20 minutes). Eat with cream or any sauce preferred. This pudding makes a nice plain cake for the chil dren, and is very good divided in four parts and baked for jelly-cake. Try it. When made in jelly-care tins, it can be mixed and baked in 15 minutes.

Home Manufacture of Table Sirups .-A correspondent of the Sunny South offers the following suggestion in regard to making sirup for the table from sugar: To make a gallon of sirup of beautiful whiteness and crystal-like transparency, such as is known in our markets as silver drips, or rock-candy drips, there are required 8 pounds of refined sugar, such as is known by its various names and grades of A, or B, or Extra C, and costing from 10 to 124 cents per pound, according to locality and distrace from the sugar refinery. To this quantity should be added 3 pints of back during the flight, the ball passing boiling water, and the whole subjected across its stomach. The mother threw to slow boiling for a period of 15 to 20 minutes; after which, the solution, while warm, should be strained through a fabric of moderately close texture. This will produce a gallon of sirup, at much less cost than the price demanded in market for the grades of sirup named. For a light yellow or golden sirup the same quantity of light brown sugar may be employed, and so on through the lower grades of sugar and sirup; but no grade of sugar can be found which will produce so worthless an article as the Cuba molasses generally offered in all markets.

A Whole Colony in One Family.

Among the immigrant passengers by he steamship Leipzig on Saturday was a Swiss family of seventeen persons, which would seem to possess resources enough to populate a Western American State with far less hardship than the famous "Swiss Family Robinson" experienced when cast away on a tropi cal island in establishing their little patriarchal government. The head of the present Swiss family is Alfred Mathys, aged 42 years. His wife Veronica is one year his senior. The two oldest of the fifteen children are Marie and Alfred, twins, aged 20 years. The ages of the others follow in pretty regular order-viz: 18 years, 17, 16, 14, 11, 10, 9, 8, 6, 4, 3, and 2 years, ending with the baby of 9 months. They all started West, and will form a fair nucleus upon which to found a Swiss settlement. Of the juniors eight are males and seven females .- Baltimore Sun.

The Misdirection of the Bile.

The misdirection of the bile, a conse-quence which ensues when the liver is in active and the bowels torpid, produces a number of bodily evils. The blood becomes contaminated with the bilious fluid, causing the skin and the whites of the eyes to as sume a yellowish tinge; dyspepsia and nausea supervene, the tongue becomes furred the breath fetid, there are pains in the side and between the shoulder blades, the urine is high colored and scalding, and i aggravated cases jaundice and inflammation of the liver ensue. All these consequences may be prevented or obviated by using Hos tetters's Stomach Bitters, a vegetable altera to exert itself in secreting and directing the bile, acts naturally upon the bowels and removes every trace of indigestion.
